

Using Google Drive File Stream

Google Drive File Stream is a simple alternative way of accessing your Google Drive files using the standard windows explorer that you are used to. This guide will provide you with the information and steps needed to access Drive File Stream.

1. Double click the desktop shortcut to Drive File Stream.

2. The Google Drive File Stream login box will now appear, log into this as you would log into any other google service on the web.

3. You can now access all your Google Drive files as if it were a memory stick or local drive. This is shown as your G: Drive in My Computer.
